Feeling : Happiness

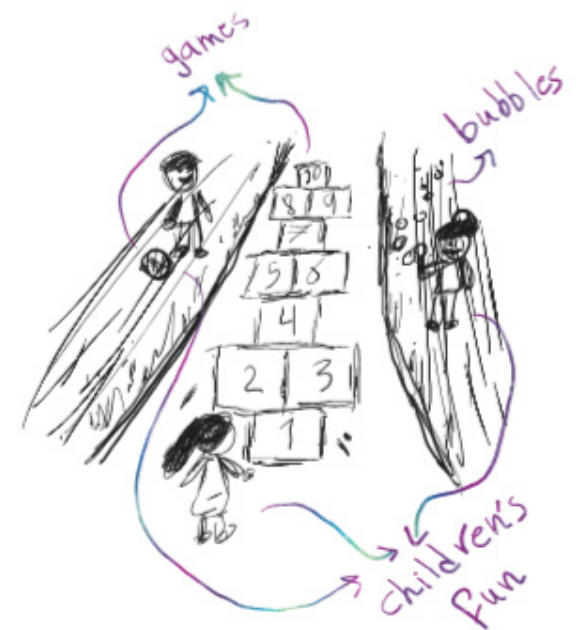

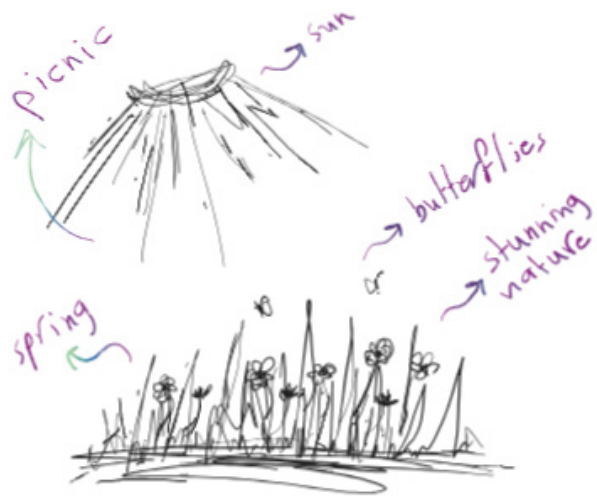

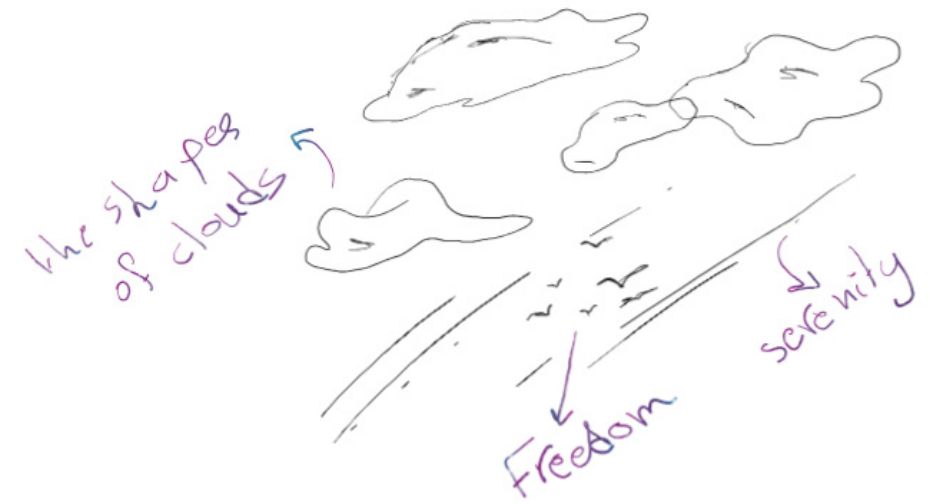

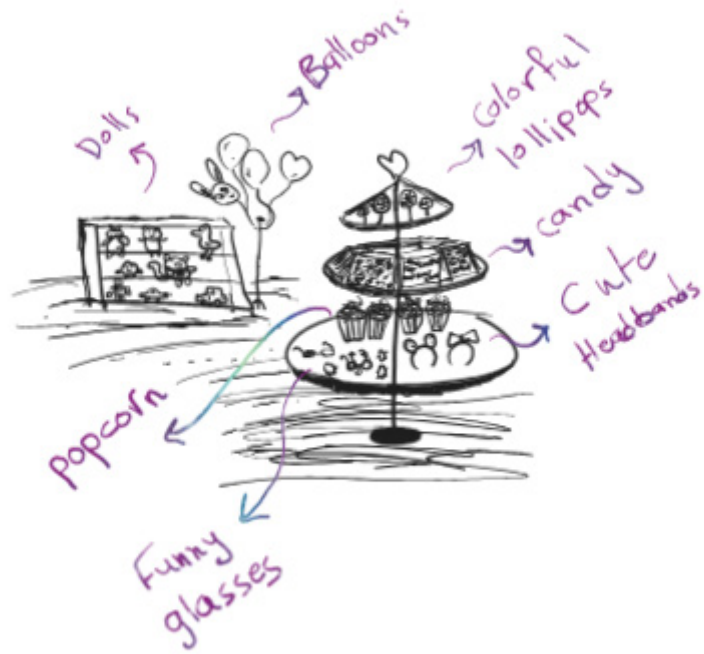

1- Definition :

- Literature : happiness in literature transcends simplistic definitions, delving into the complexities of human emotions, societal norms, and personal values. Writers and poets have depicted happiness as a profound and nuanced concept, exploring its varied dimensions through characters, themes, and poetic imagery to offer readers diverse perspectives on the essence of joy and contentment.
- Dictionary : defines happiness as the state of being happy, where happy denotes feeling or showing pleasure or contentment. This definition emphasizes happiness as a state characterized by pleasure or contentment rather than intense emotions like joy or ecstasy.
